JUDGE BUNDY FAVORS NEW CHILDREN'S COURT

Wants Building on Judiciary Square to House Municipal Courts as Well.

Judge Charles S. Bundy of the Municipal Court, who presided over the or tomorrow morning Juvenile Court yesterday afternoon, and will continue to sit until Judge Latimer's return from his inspection tour of the juvenile courts of other cities, is strongly in favor of abandoning the dirty, inadequate and disgraceful quarters in which the children's court is housed at present.

Judge Bundy told a Star reporter that he has always been an advocate of building a new courthouse on Judiciary the present site of the Court of Appeals on the western side. The scheme is one advanced by Judge Latimer, but The selling prices today were: Potatoes, vide for housing the Municipal Court in the same building

Present Quarters Impossible.

"The present quarters of the children's court are impossible," Judge 15 and 20 cents a basket, $1 a half-bushel Bundy said. "I am strongly in favor of the movement on foot to abandon this small and unsuitable home of the court and erect a building for it which will be the sort which we should have in Washington.

"I should go further than this though," the judge continued, "and erect such a building as could comfortably house both the Juvenile and Municipal courts. The quarters of the Municipal Court, on John Marshall place, are entirely too small, and every day the corridors of the building are in a disgracefully crowdel condition.

Near Center of Population.

"The proposition of placing the pro posed new courthouse on Judiciary Square has many things to commend it to favor," Judge Bundy said. "Its proximity to the other courts, with the arrangement of the entrances so that the children cannot come into contact with the habitues of the criminal and cents a pound; bacon, piece, 24 cents a other courts, is one very good cason, and another is that locating the court on that site would place it very near the center of population of the city.
